Morning unveils "Tout me revient": a song combining sensitivity and power

Morning (#legroupemorning) is back in the spotlight and offers us a new facet of their repertoire with a new pop-rock single: Tout me revient.

Available on September 12 on all digital platforms, this track transports us into the unique atmosphere of dreams, with the awakening of a painful repressed memory.

With delicate lyrics, a powerful chorus repeating tirelessly Tout me revient and careful instrumentation combining guitar, drums, bass, strings, and backing vocals, this song evokes strong emotions that send shivers down your spine.

Alexandra, the band's singer, brings dazzling intensity to the track with her soulful and elegant performance.

A song written as a story

Written by Carole Send and composed by Albert Palombo - the band's songwriter and composer - the song invites us into the painful story of a crazy but fleeting love that emerges from the past through a bad dream.

We are very proud of this new track "Tout me revient". Through its music and lyrics, you can't help but be captivated by the atmosphere it creates, declares Albert Palombo, the band's founder.

A distinctive musical style

With Tout me revient, a track combining delicacy and strength, Morning confirms its unique identity: a powerful blend of accessible rock and pop, demonstrating a sophisticated musical approach.

The guitar solo that suddenly intertwines with the chorus conveys an extra emotion that carries us away, while the rhythm section brings a rather haunting feel to the song.

The band is also distinguished by the powerful and expressive female voice bringing a marked emotional intensity to each track.

Having already made a name for themselves with the release of their album "Hors-Champ" in November 2024 - including Kiss Me in the Night where the band brilliantly alternated French and English – and the release on March 28, 2025 of their single *Suivre Son Étoile which is big successful on YouTube, Morning have established themselves as a key player on today's music scene.
